Education and Missions, Pres. R. Lin
Cave.

No Wonder He Was Surprised.

Lancaster, Pa., May 27.—David Walter, a farmer living near Litz, was the victim of a unique surprise to-day. This is the thirty-eighth anniversary of his birth, and Mrs. Walter invited about fifty friends and relatives to participate in a celebration of the event. Shortly before dinner a handsome carriage was presented to Mr. Walter. Under his plate at the table was a fine gold watch. Leaving the table Mr. Walter was invited to the yard and a herd of ten Holstein cows was driven up and presented to him. This was followed by the appearance of two young ladies dressed in pink, who carried a tray on which were piled gold and silver to the amount of $3, 000. This, too, was presented to the happy man.

Everything was the gift of Mr.
Walter's wife, who by industry and frugality in their fifteen years of married life had saved the money without the knowledge of her husband.—Philadelphian Times.

Beauty's Signal of Distress.

An extremely pretty girl rode to the Capitol in an electric car the other day. She was tailor-made and trim as a cruiser, and tucked in the front of her jacket was a silk flag about the size of a handkerchief. Something about the flag appeared to distress an elderly man who sat opposite her.
He gazed about and he frowned.
At last, when she left the car, he approached her and spoke:

"Pardon me" said he, "but won't you please change that flag? You're wearing it upside down, and that is a signal of distress!"—Washington Post.

ington, marvelously escaped death on Wednesday at High Bridge.

stairway on the side of the cliff. Mr.
Flood was holding the boy by the hand. When near the top the little fellow ran ahead of the party, and

Miles of Molten Metal.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 1.—The Carnegie Steel Co. successfully inaugurated this morning a hot metal route eight miles long. Ladies holding fifteen tons each placed in cars were filled with molten steel at the Duquesne blast furnaces and hauled to Bessemer converters at the Homestead Steel Works and there worked into steel.

C. M. Schwab, President of the Carnegie Co., created the system. It will be extended across the Monongahela river to the Edgar Thompson Steel Works at Braddock. Seven hundred tons of molten steel will be transported this way daily from Duquesne to Homestead.

Coret must not be worn by Rus-ders, and this great chemist, patiently experimenting for years, has produced results as beneficial to humanity as can be claimed by any modern genius. His assertion that lung troubles and consumption are curable in any climate is proven by "heartfelt letters of gratitude," filed

The Silver Bell.

There is a pretty story beautifully told by one of our writers, of a King who, when he came to his throne a young man, had a silver bell made and placed in a high tower of his palace. This bell should be the means of telling his subjects that he was happy, and it should be rung by no one but himself.

Day after day the people listened for the silver bell, but it did not ring.
Weeks passed and months and years,
but no tone of the bell was ever heard.
At last, the King, grown old in the palace, lay on his death-bed. His weeping subjects gathered around him, and he learned how all the years his people had loved him; and then he was happy, and in his joy, with dying hands, he rang out the silver bell.—Selected.

Faith.

When the suspension bridge across the Niagara was to be built, the question was how to get the cable over.
With a favoring wind a kite was elevated, which lighted on the other shore. To its insignificant string a cord was attached, which was drawn over, then a rope, then a larger rope, then a cable strong enough to sustain the iron cable which supports the bridge over which heavily laden trains pass in safety every day. This could never have been done but for the little kite string, which may represent a weak faith, yet reaches to Christ and heaven, and may enlarge to gigantic proportions, and hold its possessor fast anchored to the Rock of Ages.—Selected.

Babies to Spare.

A remarkable tale of human fecundity is told by the London Daily News. An Italian peasant woman named Grana, married at twenty-eight, has borne sixty-two children.
She began with a single daughter, followed by six boys at a birth, then five more, and those by triplets twice and four at a birth. After this she limited herself like ordinary women to single babies and twin and was up with another batch of four.

Suit has been instituted in Mason county to prevent the sheriff from paying the toll gate guards appointed by order of the County Judge. The suit is based on the grounds that the turnpike companies had not accepted the provisions of the new Constitution and were not, therefore, entitled to the protection of any legislation under it, and that the County Judge exceeded his authority when he had the guards unseated.

HATS OFF TO HOBSON.

Seventy millions of people stand with heads uncovered to do honor to Lieutenant Hobson and his seven companions who sank the Collier Merriman in the mouth of Santiago harbor on Friday morning. From the days of Paul Jones down till now the American seaman has been noted for deeds of reckless daring. Many an act of high enterprise has gone to the credit of the American navy in the years since she flung "Old Glory" to the breeze. Now comes Dewey at Manila and Hobson at Santiago to tell the world that the American seaman may be a little out of practice, but he has lost none of the spirit that animated a Jones, a Perry, a Decatur and the long list of their fellow compatriots in the days of the past. To-day America is saying to the world if the men who manned her navy in those elder days had hearts of oak, her seamen of to-day, when facing the enemy, have hearts of steel.

CONGRESSIONAL MATTERS

The time is rapidly approaching when a choice for Standard bearer in this Congressional district must be made. The people seem to be so engaged in war and other matters that the race for Congress is not receiving the attention its importance demands. We would remind our readers that on June 16 precinct mass-meetings, county conventions on June 18th, and on the 23rd the district convention will be held at West Liberty. Of course the vote of this county will be for our countryman, the Hon. H. B. Kinsolving, who is now in the district presenting the claims of Democracy. He, by his work in '96, has made many friends who will be glad to see him nominated. He has been fearless in debate, is a speaker of rare fluency, of commanding presence and will no doubt attract attention when he represents the 10th Congressional district.

The election of a board of school trustees for the Mt. Sterling Graded School took place on Saturday. The compliment, was paid the old board, of an election without opposition. The efficient service rendered by this board is heartily appreciated by the people of the town as, indeed, it should be. Their re-election insures Mt. Sterling a continuation of the high grade of teaching that has marked her city school for some years past.

Steel and Our Destiny.

The shipyards of the Clyde and of Belfast are building a number of merchant vessels at the present time of the largest type hitherto undertaken. The steel for most of these vessels is made at Pittsburg, and when shipped thence across the Atlantic is still cheaper than it can be produced in England. We have engaged here to build for Russia some $15,000,000 worth of steel warships, the reason being that we can do it cheaper than it can be done elsewhere. Our own capital is seeking an opening in the shipbuilding trade. We ourselves have knowledge of projects of great importance in relation to shipbuilding in the United States which are now being matured. In fact we record the conviction that within the next few years our shipbuilding will show a degree of progress and expansion not approached, relatively, by any other American industry.

For thirty-five years, or since the civil war left us without a merchant marine, we have been content to devote our energies to the development of the country within its boundaries. The condition of our iron industry reconciled us to this, because it forbade our competing with any other country in iron shipbuilding. Now, however, the situation is entirely changed, and we are to-day embarked upon the building of an American merchant marine where the extent will be determined by the world's commerce and the strength of the nation that reaches for it.

In England the wisest men hold that to maintain a merchant marine you must have a navy, and that to maintain a navy you must have coaling stations and arsenals.

Recently, the Prince the Emperor William sent out to absorb part of China, had to stop three or four times on the way and cable to the English Admiralty for the currency of a little coin. It may be recalled also that quite lately a Russian Admiral in the seas was embarrassed to find himself compelled to apply to a British Admiral for permission to get coal for his warships.

All of these considerations indicate that the projection of Manila within our political horizon at this particular time is opportune. To have a merchant marine tracking the seas of the whole globe and building up that new synonym for wealth, "Empire," will require many Manillas, plenty of coal everywhere, and steel ships in all waters.—NEW YORK.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Of the Different Schools of the City—Enjoyment in Store.

Mrs. Johnson's Class.

Mrs. J. Gano Johnson invited a number of her friends to meet her class of bright little pupils at the County Court room on Friday morning. Mrs. Johnson, who is not only a loving and painstaking mother, but as well a born teacher, has for company in her class with her two children, several bright little girls and boys, all under nine years of age. The pupils furnished a most enjoyable two hours entertainment for the large number who were present to greet them. The exercises were of a character that brought out the bright points of the children, and Mrs. Johnson's was thoroughly an element as she displayed to parents and friends how well she understood the methods of drawing out the latent energies of the undeveloped minds before her. The names of the children composing the class are: Minnie Graves, Ruby Clark, Mary Cobb Stover, Pauline Pickrell, Mildred Greene, Elizabeth Johnson, Charlie Howe, Ralph Greene and Arlington Johnson. Those parents who can secure for one of their little ones a place under Mrs. Johnson's care may well count themselves and their child veritable blessings.

Callie Owings, a colored servant, who lived with D. W. Baum and wife, died very suddenly about 8 o'clock Sunday evening. She had gone to church but had hardly taken her seat when she complained of feeling sick and went to the fresh air. By the time she reached the church door she was so ill she asked that she be taken home. Some friends placed her in a carriage and drove to Mr. Baum's door, a square away, but the woman expired as they reached the veranda.

Callie was a faithful servant and her death is cause for sincere sorrow in the family where she served so faithfully.

Mrs. J. J. Ed. Grubbs' music class gave a recital at the Opera House last evening. The entertainment was a most delightfully enjoyable one to the music loving portion of our community. The numbers of the programme included a high grade of music, and the rendition showed how carefully Mrs. Grubbs had trained her pupils. The recital was a pronounced success in all respects, and the teacher has reason to point with pride to the good work accomplished by her class during the year.

Ex Sheriff Killed.

Ex-Congressman John D. White was a passenger on Friday from Lexington to Winchester en route to Manchester near where on Thursday evening his cousin, W. L. White, ex-Sheriff of Clay county, had been killed by a member of the Baker faction in the Howard-Baker feud. The deceased is a brother to the wholesale grocer of Winchester.

Georgetown College Commencement.

Commencement exercises began on Sunday and will close on Wednesday evening. An address will be delivered before the Students' Association tonight, and the commencement will take place on to-morrow morning, with President's levee at night.

The commencement exercises of the A. and M. College occurred at Lexington last week. There were nineteen graduates, three of whom were young ladies. The first and second and honors were taken by Misses Terry of Paris and King of Lexington. A few more occurrences of this kind will convince some people that women are not the weaker vessels in all respects.

The decorators have finished the work of frescoing the walls of the Christ Church. Wm. Lay & Son, of Cincinnati, had this part of the work in charge and have done it to the full satisfaction of the committee. The church will be ready for occupancy by the 15th of the month.

The evening performances will begin at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is hereby extended to all to attend these exercises.

Mt. Sterling High School.

The commencement exercises of the Mt. Sterling High School will be held on Thursday evening of this week. As in the past this entertainment will be of such high standard that all parents and friends will be proud of the institution and its efficient corps of teachers under the direction of Mrs. W. F. Hibler, who has for many years been at the head of the school.

The commencement exercises of the Mt. Sterling Public Graded School will be held in the Court House Thursday evening, June 9. The following is a list of the graduates: Misses Leona Whit, Lutie Burbridge, Josephine Ringo, Sallie McDonald, Mary Divise, Lucy Owings, Julia F. Barber, Elizabeth Bybee and Mary D. Coyle.

College, Lexington; Mary Gatewood and Virginia Grubbs, Washington College, Washington, D. C.; Misses Clarence Orr, Centre College, and Mat Hart, Kentucky University. Misses Harry Rogers and James Stover, of Centre College, will be on Thursday and Chas. Hibler, Allen Prewitt and Tom Wilson, from Kentucky University, on Friday. We welcome home the young people.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

On Tuesday evening at the store of Greenwade & Horton at Spencer, this county, Thos. Greenwade shot and severely wounded Wm. Day. The ball entered the right side of the face and ranged back lodging in the bone just above the ear. Day's wound, while a painful one, is not likely to prove fatal. The facts as we have been able to gather them are about these. Greenwade came into the store where Day is clerk and began to upbraid him for some alleged talk, he had heard Day and Eugene Thomas had indulged in about him. Some angry words passed between the men, when Greenwade shot. We have been unable to get at anything like the full particulars of the shooting. One account says Day was attempting to secure a pistol when Greenwade shot. Another account says the shot was fired without any warning. Greenwade came to town Wednesday and waived an examining trial. Judge Hazelrigg fixed his bond for appearance at Circuit court at $500.

After taking Dr. Hood's Saraparilla and began taking Hood's Saraparilla. This medicine did him wonderful good. In about two months he was able to walk out in the yard. When he had taken seven bottles he was able to ride out on a bicycle. He was then able to get his bed gained as pounds in weight. He is now about as well as he ever was and has been at work on his farm. Last fall he rode out on a bicycle for the first time since the work he had done for four years. In the Philippires the windows of the houses of the better class, the villas in the suburbs and the country mansions are made of oyster shells—those wonderful, transparent, pearl-like shells of the Oriental seas which admit light, but not the glare of the sun, illuminating the interior with the soft radiance of a cathedral. A great window filled with these sprays of pearl shows the color of 10,000 rainbows.

Measuring the Nation's Drink Bill.

"Boy at the head of the class, what are we paying for liquor as a nation?"

"Nine hundred million dollars annually."

"Step to the blackboard, my boy. First take a rule and measure as this silver dollar. How thick is it?"

"Nearly an eighth of an inch."

"Well, sir, how many of them can you put in an inch?"

"Between eight and nine."

"Give the benefit of the doubt; call it nine. How many inches would it take?"

"Nine hundred million dollars require to pile these nine hundred millions in?"

"One hundred million inches."

"How many feet would that be?"

"Eight million, three hundred and thirty-three feet."

"How many rods is that?"

"Five hundred and five thousand and fifty rods."

"How many miles is that?"

"One thousand five hundred and seven-eighths miles."

"Miles of what?"

"One thousand five hundred and seven-eighths miles of silver dollars, laid down, packed close together, our national liquor bill would make this is only one year's gross bill."

A Legend.

A legend was told me the other day which may interest you. A young man, discontented with his lot, dreamed a wonderful dream. He was carried into a beautiful country, and was driven in state through leafy bower and under arching trees, through groves, redolent with orange blossoms. Rare exotics bloomed on every side. The place seemed a very fairland of beauty. After driving for miles and miles, he stopped before a magnificent palace. It was built of marble and the carving was of the finest workmanship. Its minarets and domes were ornamented with rare jewels, which flashed in the sunshine. The doors were of pearls, the floors of gold, and the ceilings, instead of being frescoed, were studded with rubies and diamonds. The building was of enormous size, covering with its wings, fully a square mile, and everything was on a scale of rare splendor. Stepping to one side of the palace, his eye rested on a dark brown niche, small, but in such a striking contrast to the place, that he asked the guide what it meant and why that was not marble also and seemed with precious stones. Imagine the young man's surprise when he said, "The fault is yours. This is the Palace Beautiful, and this is your niche. You have been unhappy because of your lowly station in life, and since you could not have a position of prominence, you have spent your time discontented, while others have been improving their time and talents. It rests upon you alone to make this palace perfect." The young man awoke, saw the lesson taught by his dream, and set out to marble his brown niche.—New York Evangelist.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) which cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Hyacinth.

For more than a century, from 1680 to 1860, the tulip was an imported species of tulip, preserved in the shape of a double hyacinth. See says of the "hyacinth, or jacinth." It is "of diverse sorts, and many of them of small esteem." Some double varieties were, however, known at that time, three being mentioned by Baudin, but the double kind from which modern ones have been derived was raised at the end of the seventeenth century by Peter Voerstra, a celebrated Dutch botanist. The hyacinth was never quite such a hit as the tulip, though the height of its popularity greatly exceeded that of tulips. The tulips were paid for bulbs in Holland. It was said as much as $2,000 florins, or about $160, was given for one root by some enthusiastic Dutch collector.—Longman's Magazine.

Sir William Crookes has tested Dr. Stephen Emmet's method of deriving gold from silver, under the doctor's own directions, and declares that it is an utter failure. He assayed a great many Mexican dollars before he could find two that were free from gold. These were subjected to the process for 100 hours and no gold appeared.

It is a great leap from the old-fashioned doses of blue mass and nauseous physics to the pleasant little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Ringers. They cure constipation, sick headache and biliousness.

J. B. Tipton.

The Third Kentucky Regiment left Lexington Wednesday afternoon on three special trains for Chickamauga. Ten men of the sick list were left behind in infirmaries. Many friends and relatives of the soldiers thronged the depot to see the regiment depart, and the boys were made happy by liberal contributions of good things to eat.

Thirty-five years make a generation. That is how long Adolph Fischer, of Zanesville, Ohio, suffered from piles. He was cured by using three boxes of DeWitt's Hazel Salve.

J. B. Tipton.

A notable incident at Chickamauga Wednesday was the administering of the oath to Brig. Gen. Fred Grant by Judge A. H. Harris, an ex-Confederate, in the presence of many Federal and Confederate veterans, who loudly cheered the proceedings. The first man to congratulate Gen. Grant was Maj. Gillessie, of Chattanooga, who was Lee at Appomattox.

The telephone's latest use is to connect a steamship as it lies at its mooring, with the shore. The ocean greyhounds are all connected with the city's system of telephones while they are in New York harbor. The slipping of their connection with the 'phone is one of the last acts in putting out, and the connection is re-established as soon as the steamer is within reach of the system.

A child was going on the heavenward way, but at every turn he saw some anxious traveler who exclaimed to him: "Beware of the grave!" He grew to manhood, and again he heard that fearful plaint: "Beware of the grave!"

In old age it sounded on every ear, and its echo ran reverberating ad tremulous from rock to rock: "Here is the grave!" he inquired of his wife, "is here the grave?" was the reply. He crossed the hill, looked fearfully before him; and lo! a portal with the light of heaven shining through it, and gilding faces on the other side!

Thinks an ex-Congressman, now Major W. C. Owens is going the rounds of the papers:

Major Owens was largely instrumental in raising the Georgetown company and when they were gotten together he was exceedingly proud of them. He said that they would make the finest soldiers in the regiment, that being country boys they could stand more hardships than the city fellows and could also outfight them. The Major believed also that they would soon become proficient in drilling, although he had little experience in the manual of arms.

One day after the day had been presented to the company by the patriotic citizens, Major Owens was proudly marching at the head of the company down street. Heggay the command "Column right-march." The men kept straight ahead. He repeated it, louder this time. Not a man swerved. The Major was annoyed, but he ready wit soon came to his aid, and remembering that they were all farmers he yelled "Go!" and they wheel ed to the right like a machine.

Almost a Lynching.

UNINTENTIONAL INSULTS.

Persons Use Very Careful When in Foreign Country.

A short time back a complaint was received by the authorities through the Chinese legation that the gentleman representing our majesty in China had been guilty of conduct unbecoming an ambassador and a gentleman. He had insulted the Chinese cabinet. Investigation, however, showed that the only conduct of which he had been guilty was thumping the table at which he was sitting to emphasize a remark. Of course no notice was taken of the affair, but all the same, the diplomats of China were offended, for in that country it is an insult to the assembled company to thump the table.

It only shows how careful one should be in a foreign country. In England, if a friend is visiting another and stays to dinner, he may ask for the loan of a hairbrush without giving offense, but in Hungary he may do so. To attempt to borrow that useful article is one of the greatest insults which can be offered to a Hungarian and one which will in most cases cause a duel.

In France there are several insults which the unwary foreigner may offer without knowing it. For example, he may be visiting a friend and may put his hat upon the bed. This is a grievous form of insult, but why it is not known. It is a very ancient one, and so probably results from an old superstition.

Again, there are two ways of pouring out wine in France, as everywhere else. One of these is to hold the bottle so that the point of the thumb is facing the tablecloth.

The second way is to hold the hand reversed—that is, with the knuckles downward—and this is a great insult to the assembled guests and the host, a far greater insult than drinking a health in wine, and that is pretty well known.

General has some curious forms of insult. To begin with, to offer a rose or any other flower without any green or leaves with it to a lady is to deeply insult her, though why this should be so is not known precisely.

The German students are formed into corps, some of which are fighting corps and others not. Each corps has its distinctive cap, and when a member of one corps is in another in the street it is etiquette for each to doff his cap. Should the other not respond a complaint is made to his corps, and a duel is fought—a real duel, with sabers or pistols, not the fencing duel which is pastime in Germany, just as following a stick fight is in England—such a duel is nearly the worst that can be offered.

There is one worse, and that is spilling or flicking beer over another student purposely. No apology will wipe out this offense. Fighting will except a duel to the death or a duel which is continued until one of the combatants is too badly wounded to continue the fight. A minor insult is to refuse to drink with a student if invited or to refuse to respond with "Prosit" when he raises his glass and says, "Fack Komme vor," but this is more a breach of good manners than an actual insult.

We might finish with two Spanish paxioms of course, one in Spanish and the other in English. The first of these is to refuse to smoke a cigarette which another man offers you after he has had it in his mouth, and the second is to refuse drink out of the same glass that a man has just drunk from, or worse still, to wipe it before drinking.—London Times.

Nude Cupids Not to Her Likings.

Because Miss Dorothy Moyer, a pretty young woman of the Salvation Army, does not admire the nude in art, she secured an ax and chopped to pieces a number of groups of cupids which decorated the Fine Arts building of the Omaha Exposition on Tuesday night. Incidentally the determined girl tried her weapon upon several pieces of costly statuary, whose undraped figures she considered too suggestive for the human eye to feast upon.

The young woman performed thefeat at the hour of midnight, and throughout the time occupied a most perilous position, hanging out over the grand Court of Honor. Had the frail network to which she was clinging in order to execute the work with dispatch given way, she would have been precipitated fifty feet to the stone pavement below. When she had done the work to her satisfaction the girl descended to the ground, again performing afeat involving great danger, and was arrested.

It makes but little difference whether she is to be bred to Starplex or not, but one thing is certain, she is now being trained for a campaign, and it does not seem reasonable that she will be shipped to the horse or the horse shipped to her.

A DEED OF DESPERATE DARING.

THE HEROES OF SANTIAGO.

New Lieutenant Robson and Seven Men

Blocked the Mouth of Santiago Harbor.

THE MERRIMAC SUNK.

The Navy Department gives out the following dispatch from Admiral Samson:

"Mole, Hayti, June 4.—Succeeded in sinking the Merrimac in the channel of Santiago at 4 a.m., June 3. This was carried out most gallantly under the command of Naval Constructor Hobson and seven men. By a flag of truce from the Spanish Admiral, Cervera, sent in recognition of their bravery, I am informed all are prisoners of war, two are slightly wounded. Request authority to approve exchange if possible between these and the prisoners at Atlanta."

"Six of the Spanish squadron in the harbor of Santiago, unable to avoid being captured or destroyed."

"SAMSON."

How it Was Done.

"Fort Antonio, Jamaica, June 3.—A single deed of magnificence American daring has lost to the Kingdom of Spain the powerful fleet of Admiral Cervera."

"Just before dawn to-day seven gallant Americans took the collier Merrimac under the blazing Morro batteries and anchored and sunk her beneath a scalding fire of musketry and heavy commanding from the shore, and the cracked hull of the sunken vessel effectively closed the entrance to the harbor within which the Spanish squadron is hopelessly and helplessly locked."

"This splendid stroke was planned by Lieut. Richmond P. Hobson, who commanded the expedition. He is a naval constructor, attached to the Ammoplites, and his home is in Brooklyn. With him went Daniel Montague, George Charrette, J. E. Murphy, Oscar Edington, John P. Phillips and John Kelly, all non-commissioned officers or enlisted men, and H. C. Hansen a coxswain of the New York, who went with the expedition against orders."

"A steam launch from the flagship New York, commanded by Cadet J. W. Powell, followed the Merrimac to the mouth of the harbor, and, despite the fire from the fort, braved the wind for an hour and a half after the collier was sunk, but no sign of the brave Americans was seen, and Cadet Powell was finally compelled to return to the flagship."

No Lack of Volunteers.

"Hundreds of men and scores of officers volunteered for the duty, and Commodore Merrill, who had been the Captain of the Merrimac, begged permission of Admiral Samson to go. But Lieut. Hobson wanted only six men. Soon after 3 o'clock the black hull of the Merrimac began to drift slowly toward the land, and in half an hour was lost to sight."

It was Lieut. Hobson's plan to steam past Morro, swinging crossways the channel, drop his anchor, open the valves, explode the torpedoes on the port side, leap overboard, preceded by his crew, and make their escape in a little lifeboat which was towed astern, if possible; and, if not, to attempt to swim ashore.

Under Heavy Fire.

"Bravely had the ship disappeared when a flash from Morro's guns proclaimed that she had been discovered. Immediately the other batteries around opened fire, but the ship went steadily on, for the morning the top of her masts can be seen in the water beyond Morro and near the Estrella battery. A heavy cannon and musketry fire continued for about a half hour, and guns were fired at intervals until long after daylight. Note of the American ships dare to fire, for fear of striking the Merrimac's crew."

"As daylight came on the steam launch could be seen circling close to harbor entrance. Until 5:30 the search was continued, and then under a shower of Spanish shells, which flew wide of their mark, Cadet Powell steamed away, and half an hour later boarded the New York and reported to Admiral Sampson that he believed the entire crew of the Merrimac had been lost."

"Not one of them did he catch sight of. The Merrimac, he said, lay well across the channel, her masts showing that Lieut. Hobson had done his work well, sinking the ship in almost the exact spot decided upon. The channel is not so wide as the Merrimac's length, and it is impossible for the Spaniards to raise or destroy the wreck under the guns of the American fleet."

"The cruisers Cristobal, Infanta Maria Teresa, Vizcaya and Almirante Oquendo are known to be inside, and it is believed that two or three smaller warships, possibly torpedo boats, were with them."

Plans Carried Out.

Lieut. Hobson appears to have carried out his plan to the smallest detail, except as regards the method of escape. The rowboat in which he was to attempt to escape was either blown up or shot to pieces, for Lieut. Hobson and his men drifted ashore on an old catamaran which was slung over the ship's side at the last moment as an extra precaution. Upon reaching shore the men were taken prisoners and sent to Santiago city under guard. Later they were taken to Morro Castle, where they now are."

Capt. Oviedo, Admiral Cervera's chief of staff, who had been in command under a flag of truce, did not give further details of the capture.

The bravery of the Americans evidently excited as much admiration among the Spaniards as it did among the men of the American fleet. The prisoners will be perfectly safe, and will probably be well treated while they remain in Morro Castle.

WAR NOTES.

The two troop of cavalry, lately United to the United States service at Lexington, left for Chickamauga Saturday. They are troop A from Barbourville, Capt. U. S. G. Perkins, and troop B from Salyerville, Capt. Jeff Prater.

The Kentucky soldiers stationed a Chickamauga are reported as suffering intensely from the very hot spell of weather we are enduring.

Steps have been taken by our government by which it will rid itself of the annoyance of the Spanish spy system established by Lieutenant Carranza and Senor Du Boe, at Moura, Canada. The matter has been formally presented to the British Government and the spies must go.

Large numbers of prominent automobile have fled from Havana and are said to have taken refuge in Mexico.

The censorship over the press dispatches is so strict that it is impossible to ascertain if any troops have yet left for the invasion of Cuba or Porto Rico. It is probable that as yet none of the United States land forces have sailed.

Captain Charles V. Gridley, of the Cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship, died at Kobe, Japan, on Saturday, June 4, of injuries received in the battle of Manila. Soon after the battle it was reported that Captain Gridley had been hurt and would be retired, and later that he had started for home. It was not supposed his injuries were serious, and even now the department is in ignorance of the precise nature of Capt. Gridley's injury.

Captain Charles V. Gridley, of the Cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship, died at Kobe, Japan, on Saturday, June 4, of injuries received in the battle of Manila. Soon after the battle it was reported that Captain Gridley had been hurt and would be retired, and later that he had started for home. It was not supposed his injuries were serious, and even now the department is in ignorance of the precise nature of Capt. Gridley's injury.

Rev. H. D. Clark presided the baccalaureate service before the pupils of the Mt. Sterling Collegiate School at the Methodist Church on Sunday morning. The sermon has been very highly complimented.

The W. C. T. U. and the L. T. L. will observe Flower Mission Day June 9. The flowers will be received at Mrs. Webb Gaffatikill, Howard avenue, at 8 o'clock. The Legion will start for the jail at 10:30 o'clock.

Next to Chas. Wesley as a hymn writer, in point of numbers, if not in merit, is Fanny Crosby. He is not to have written about 6,700 hymns, and she has written over 4,000. The best known of them begins with the lines:—

Safe in the arms of Jesus, Safe on His gentle breast.

She was born in the State of New York seventy-seven years ago, and has been totally blind since infancy.

The young ladies of the C. E. of the Christian Church will give an ice cream and berry supper in the Concourse House yard to-night at 7 o'clock. Refreshments 15c. Go early and there will be time to attend the lecture by Rev. J. W. Mitchell.

Brother Arrick was complimented by being made Reading Clerk for the Assembly. Mr. Arrick will spend several weeks visiting friends and relatives in different points of Indiana before her return.

The General Association of Baptists of the State of Kentucky will hold their next annual meeting at Hopkinsville, beginning June 16. Delegates appointed from the Mt. Sterling Baptist church by the Bracken Association are W. R. Nunneley and J. W. Hadden. The Baptist church apolutes two delegates, one of whom will be the pastor, Rev. W. J. Bollin, the other to be selected.

The children of the Christian church Sunday School gave a most pleasing Children's Day entertainment at the Court House on Sunday evening, including the usual sermon. The court room and gallery were crowded and great interest was manifested. About sixty children took part in the opening march. There were many recitations and songs by the little ones. The tote sang "Beautiful little hands," and twelve girls took part in a pleasing exercise—"America sending the light." Six American girls with lighted candles made speech, then the representatives of foreign countries replied and their candles received the light, when all joined in the march. We cannot go into detail in mentioning those who took part. We are rejoiced to see the children being trained in mission and church work. The good sisters who superintend the children's department deserve and receive encouragement in their work, for they are building for eternity. Good bless the children!

In his address of welcome to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, Governor Mount, of Indiana, said among other things: "It is eminently proper that on this occasion this Assembly Hall should be elaborately decorated with 'Old Glory.' * * * Under this banner

When we read of an elephant hunter who has been trampled to death in the wilds of India, we are apt to think of the man who will travel round the world and endure all manner of hardships, in order to earn a few dollars a day. But the man does not have to make a journey to India in order to court death in a manner equally fatal.

Thousands of hard working men are daily courting death in a manner more certain for them than for any living man in villages or cities. They are the men who negotiate. They are the men who court death from day to day, not because of some other deadly disease due to improper or unhygienic living, but because of the man who suffers from bilious or nervous disorders, who has a weak stomach and an impaired digestion, who has a bad heart, who cannot rest or sleep, and who fails to take prompt steps to remedy these conditions, is courted by Death. The man of the family, Dr. Peter's "Golden Medicine," cures 99 per cent of all cases of bronchial asthma, consumption, biliousness, and all diseases due to consumption. It cures the cough, facilitates expectoration and restores the lost energy. It strengthens the heart and the digestion, makes the assimilation of the life giving elements of the food perfect, and gives the body a general tone which strengthens the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, nerve tonic and restorer. It is the best remedy for all diseases for nervous disorders. Dealers sell it, and have nothing else "just as good." "I could not live up," writes Miss Minnie Gray, of Louisville, "without Dr. Peter's 'Golden Medicine.' My physician told my husband that I had consumption, and I took Dr. Peter's 'Golden Medicine' and split my blood. I took your 'Golden Medicine' and it cured me. It saved my life."

An Earthquake Shock.

An earthquake shock of considerable duration but of no great severity was felt here Sunday night about 2 o'clock. To the writer the experience was first rather a sharp motion as if one had thrown himself down on the bed and the recoil of the springs had pitched him upward. This was followed from about one and a half to two minutes by a rumbling sound that shook the house as if a heavy barrel were being rolled over a bare floor. The shock was not so far as heard from no damage so far as heard from.

John Hayden, of Louisville, tried to enlist in the Louisville Legion, but failing to pass the examination of the surgeons became despondent and threw himself under a C. & O. train at Lexington. He was instantly killed and the body horribly mangled.

Rev. W. W. Dorris, pastor of the Christian church at Georgetown, has bought a lot and will erect a residence.
